

Environment Policy

The design and application of 'complete cleantech solutions' is at the heart of our business and is reflected in every aspect of our operations.

Our products help customers to achieve their environmental targets through greater sustainability, higher energy efficiency and the ability to handle and process materials for recycling. On land and at sea, we continuously work with our customers to find better ways of reducing the impact on the environment.

By offering our customers life-time support, we ensure that products perform efficiently over the long term, avoiding the need for premature renewal and thereby preserving scarce resources.

In all areas of our operations we respect the relevant legal and regulatory requirements and follow the principles of the ISO14001 standard. We also request our suppliers and partners to respect environmental values.

As the founding principle of our business, everyone at every level is committed to these values and policies, as we strive towards a more sustainable future.
